The Old Homestend. BY ALICE CARY.

When first the skies grow warm and tright, And flush with gold the hours,

And to her pale, faint robes, the Spring Is calling up the flowers : When children, with unalippered feet,

To the straight and even furrows Where the yellow corn must be; What a beautiful embodiment Of case, devoid of pride,

Is the good old-fashioned homestead. With doors still open wide. But when the happiest time is come,

Go forth with hearts of glee

"That to the year belongs. Of aplands bright with harvest gold, And mendows full of songs ; When fi lds of yet unripened corn, And daily garnered stor s, Remind the thrifty husbandman

Of ample thrasning floors-How pleasant, from the din and dust Of the thorough are aloof, Seems the old-mshioned hemestead,

With steep and mossy roof. When home the woodman plods, with axe Upon his shoulder swung,

And in the knotted apple tree Are sey the and sickle hung : When light the swallows twitter 'Neath the rafters of the shed, And the table on the ivied porch, With decent care is spread-

Then hearts are lighter and freer Than beat in the popu ous town, In the old-fashioned homestead, With gabies sharp and brown.

When the flowers of Summer perish, In the cold and bitter rain, And little birds with weary wings Have gone across the main ; When curls the blue smoke upward Toward the bluer sky,

And cold along the nak d hills, And white the snow drifts tie-In I gends of love and glory They forget the cloud and storm, In the old-fashioned homestead, it only in themselves.

With hearthstone large and warm.

Good words and good deeds are the rent we owe for the air we breathe. Those who boast of plain speaking generally like

VARIETY.

In friendship, as in love, we are often happier in our ignorance than in our knowledge. HAPPINESS .- To look back and approve; to look forward and hope.

Labor and prudence relieve us from three great evils-vice, want, and indolence. The old should be includgent; they see no faults in others that they have not committed themselves. Many a rich man in bringing up his son, seems ambition, of making what Aaron made-a golden

Truth is robed in white; falsehood flaunts in the seven primitive colors and all their combinations. A small town is a place where there are many tongues to talk, and but few heads to think. Birds are the poor man's music, flowers the poor man's poetry; and the rich man has no better.

Independence without wealth is very common, an ' wealth without independence is probably even

A great fortune is not unfrequently made by a man simply because he is too mean to enjoy a small An amusing thing occurred in the 24th Ohio. A few days since a soldier, in passing to the lower part of the encompment, saw two others from his company making a rude coffin. He inquired who it was " John Bunce," said the other. "Why," replied he, "John is not dead yet. It is too had to make a man's coffin when you don't know whether he is to die or not." " Don't trouble yourself," replied the others. " Dr. Coe told us to make his coffin, and I guess he knows what he gave him." THE POST OFFICE -There is no better place to view human nature in its various phases than to survey the countenance of a crowd of people as they retire from the post office window. Disappointment, sorrow, pleasure, each has an impress on some countenance; an elderly woman appears-she soon receives the some negative answer that she has heard for the last month. As he slowly retires you can plainly real despair. A merchant hurriedly walks up and receives a letter; the envelope is broken but he finds no expected remittance; he retires a disappointed man. The young lady in the full flush of youthful hopes, receives an expected letter from a lover; hastily the seal is broken; you can see her face wreathed and illuminated with smiles, as the contents are perused. A daughter of Erin hastens away to find some one to tell her the secrets contained in her letter. Truly, the cheap postage system has a two fold effect to quickly disseminate information that shall bring happiness to some, and misery to others -

SECOND THOUGHT.—The physical appearance of a man sometimes changes the current of events. A case occurred a few days ago in Boston. The children of two heighbors had their daily quarrels and fights which resulted occasionally in bruised faces and torn garments, the father of one family, believing his children to have been sadly martreated, and being a passionate man, concluded that the surest way to settle the differences between their households permanently wou d he to chastise the head of the other family, although as yet he had never seen him. He thereupon procured a raw hide, and abruptly enter ing his neighbor's tenement inquired in a threatening tone for " the man of the house." "I am here, sir," said a personage upward of six f.e., and weighing some two hundred and twenty founds, as he approached to learn the business of " Dol I understand you that you were the gentleman of the house?"

"Yes, sir." "Well, I-I just dropped in, sir, to see if this is your raw hide."

LITTLE GIANT! FAMILY SEWING MACHINE CO. MILLER & BUCKLIN, Agents, No. 203 Montgomery St., Russ Block,

SAN FRANCISCO. Price Reduced to $15 instead of $25.

TO PRACTICALLY DEVELOP and per-fect the Sewing Machine art is to carry joy and gladness to no small portion of the civilized world; but to render the Sewing Machine art in the highest dregree useful it is necessary-1. To divest the Sewing Machine of every loose and clumsy attachment and every fancy and complicated contrivance.
2. It must be simple in its construction throughout, that it may be easily understood and readily adjusted.
3. It must be certain in its results.

4. It must be adapted to a great range of work, as most famiies can have but one machine for all kinds of sewing.

5. It should be strong and durable in all its parts.

The above and more we claim for the Little Glant Family Sewing Machine. It is an easy task to offer high sounding references and mentions—and still ea for to publish nonsensical medal talk of Flippant and Flat ering testimonials—which is of no earthly service to the buyer, since the poorest machines furnish them in the greatest abundance, and that too of neces-sity, to conceal their lack of merit. The Giant Family Sewing Machine has passed the flery ordeal of all machines, both high and low, for the past year, and the severe scrutiny of the most skeptical, but has come out unscathed, and now stands before the Public as the BEST family sewing machine in use. Cast off machines are advertised daily at low and half prices, which are deemed worthless the public well know. We, therefore, would seek simply an intelligent examination of the merits of our machines in comparison with the high priced machines. Every machine warranted and kept in order free of charge. Recollect, price only $15. N. B.—We have no connection with any other agency, firm, or com any whatever. A full's pply of Machines, HEMMERS, needles, Silk Twist, and everything appertaining to Sewing Machines, constantly on hand, wholesale or retail. All orders promptly attended to. Agents supplied on liberal terms.
